What Has Been Done In a Year

One year ago today, on the 31st of July, 1919, a group of about twenty-five enthusiastic ex-service men assembled in Carson City for the purpose of organizing a post of The American Legion in Ormsby county. J. G. Serugham, then temporary state chairman, gave his earnest endeavors to the matter in order that a strong post might be established in this city. As a result, a working nucleus was accomplished, and officers chosen for the remainder of the year. These were H. M. Payne, chairman; J. M. Kane, vice chairman; F. B. Warren, secretary, and C. P. Heidenger, treasurer.

The young post went to work with a will, perfecting its organization, strengthening its ranks, and engaging itself actively in civic and national activities. Several social affairs were also conducted, among which was the joint celebration, with the Greater Carson Club, of Armistice Day anniversary. At the first state convention, held in Reno, a strong delegation from Capitol Post attended.

On December 4, 1919, officers for the following year were elected. These were J. M. Kane, post commander; A. A. Millard, vice commander; F. B. Warren, post adjutant; L. M. Powers, finance officer, and Maurice J. Sullivan, post historian. All of these officers now occupy the chairs with the exception of L. M. Powers, who resigned his office upon leaving the city, and whose place is now filled by Dale Pruett.

Capitol Post, No. 4, was the first post in Nevada to organize a Woman's Auxiliary. This was organized on the 22d of January, 1920, and since that time has grown to number about seventy members, all of whom have proven themselves invaluable as an auxiliary to the former service men. Their present officers are: Mrs. Drue Carothers, president; Mrs. Josie Millard, vice president; Mrs. Rosalie Payne, secretary, and Mrs. Elspat Ligon, treasurer.

Today Capitol Post boasts over 100 members who are devoted to the task of aiding their brother and sister patriots, of protecting and strengthening their city, state and country, and of making America a nation of better, happier citizens.
